CLEARPATH

Former Senior DOE Clean Energy Official Joins ClearPath

Washington, DC – Tuesday, December 1, 2020 – ClearPath announced Alex Fitzsimmons has joined as a Senior Program Director at ClearPath. He will work across ClearPath’s clean energy technology portfolio, with a focus on energy storage, renewable energy technologies, advanced manufacturing, and critical minerals policies.

“We are very excited to have Alex join our policy team, where he brings a wealth of experience in elevating clean energy innovation policies,” said Rich Powell, Executive Director of ClearPath. “His experience in efficiency and advanced manufacturing will be an asset as ClearPath expands its work into industrial sector innovation.”

Prior to joining ClearPath, Alex was Deputy Assistant Secretary for Energy Efficiency at the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE), where he led DOE's energy efficiency portfolio within the Office of Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy (EERE). In this role, he helped develop and launch the Energy Storage Grand Challenge, a DOE-wide strategy to position the U.S. for global leadership in advanced energy storage technologies. Previously, he also served as Chief of Staff at EERE, where he led strategic planning, policy, and communications across a broad clean energy portfolio.
