ClearPath Adds to Communications Team with PR and Lobbying Firm Experience

Washington, DC – Friday, May 8, 2020 – ClearPath announced Emily Johnson has joined as a Communications and External Affairs Associate. In this role, she will work closely with both the policy and government affairs teams as well as implement external affairs and communications strategies.

“Given Emily’s mixed communications and government relations experience, she will be an asset to the External Affairs team, helping deliver a conservative clean energy message to policymakers,” ClearPath Executive Director Rich Powell said.

Emily joins ClearPath from Peck Madigan Jones, where she was a Research Associate focused on issues related to financial services and international trade. While at Peck Madigan Jones, she was responsible for client advocacy, analyzing congressional and regulatory activity, and providing clients with policy briefs on congressional hearings, legislation and regulation, and updates on the political and electoral landscape.

Prior, Emily was an Account Executive at Edelman on the Financial Communications and Public Affairs team, where she worked with a variety of corporate, public affairs and crisis clients on content development, messaging strategy and stakeholder engagement.

In the past six months, ClearPath has grown its policy, government affairs and external affairs capabilities with a total of seven new hires from diverse backgrounds including a regulatory body, private utility, leading environmental NGOs, and the Administration.
